

Metcalf, Percy

(1895-1970)

Coin News - 1984-Mar-34

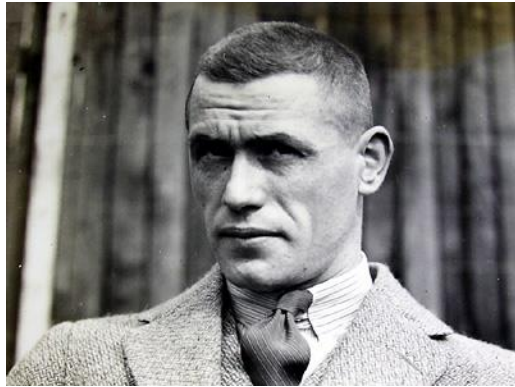

Photo thanks to Coin News

Photo thanks to Ashted Pottery

Coin News -2012-Apr-32

Biographical and Other Notes

Name often Spelled Metcalf, without the 'e'. Joined the Leeds School of Art in 1910 as a general artist. Moved to the Royal College of Art in London, and to sculpting and designing objects. Served in the Field Artillery in France, suffering a shattered leg. In 1928 he was chosen out of 6 designers as the winner for the reverse design of the Irish Free States Currency. He also designed the George Cross Medal. He went on to design many more reverse designs for British and Commonwealth coinage and the obverses for Edward VIII and George VI commonwealth coins. He also designed car mascots and produced designs for Ashted Pottery.

Contributors to British Numismatics

Sources and References

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Percy\_Metcalf

E. Colgan. What better Symbols (Irish Coinage). Coin News, August 2013, pp49-51.

<https://ashteadpottery.com/metcalf.html>.

H. Forrester. The Other Percy Metcalf. The Medal, issue 49, Autumn 2006.

W.B. Yeats. W.B. Yeats and the Designing of Ireland's Coinage. 1972.

Coin News: 1984-Mar-34, 2012-Apr-32, 2013-Aug-49

30 November 2021

