INTRODUCTION

This listing is confined to the principal contributions to the Journal, including short articles and notes, but omitting reviews, exhibitions, and other proceedings of the Society; presidential addresses, however, have been included to the extent that they treat specific subjects at some length. Ten volumes have been added since the last edition. This list does not pretend to be an index; and users may like to note that there are (in addition to the indexes in each volume) cumulated indexes to each series as follows:

Volumes	1-10	in vol. 10, pp. 393-402
	11-20	20, pp. 397-410
	21-30	30, pp. 396-417
	31-40	40, pp. 209-239
	41-50	50, pp. 161-185
	51-60	60, pp. 191-209
	61-70	70, pp. 203-213.

In the references the volume number is given in arabic numerals, the roman numerals of the first fifty volumes being converted into arabic. The year is the titular date of the volume, not the date of publication, nor (where they differ) the years of the proceedings contained in that volume. The numbers of plates given in the references are the pages of illustrations (including charts, facsimiles, and maps) which are additional to the text pages; in Volumes 52-57, and occasionally elsewhere, the plates are incorporated in the numbering of pages. The aim of the subject arrangement is to display the contents under convenient headings, subdivided where references are numerous; and most papers appear in one place only. In the headings Anglo-Saxon kings are spelt as in the Handbook of British Chronology. Titles of articles follow the original, as do authors' names, without editorial intervention, e.g. R. H. M. Dolley or M. Dolley, V. J. Butler or V. J. Smart; Kristin Bornholdt now publishes as K. Bornholdt Collins. Forenames have been reduced to initials except where they seem to be used as surnames (as some became), e.g. Shirley Fox, Elmore Jones.

Citation order is first 'Personality': coins by the series or reign (sections II and III), then matter (V), minting (VI), and finding (VII). Section VI is reserved for papers on mints which cover more than one reign. Section VII is for reports of hoards extending to more than one reign, and series of finds from excavations; whereas a study of the hoard evidence for Alfred is placed under 'Alfred (871-899)', and an unpublished hoard-provenance for a penny of Ceolwulf II under 'Kings of Mercia (796-877)'. Section I is General, and Section IV covers artefacts other than coins: medals, tokens, paper money, coin weights, pots and other hoard containers, etc.
